Seek Her Slayer—In an effort to find some tangible clue in the slaying of Marie Rose LaCombe (shown here), 14-year-old Salem schoolgirl, whose mutilated, ravished body was found in a field behind Salem High school, police today will seek the aid of the entire student body for information concerning the last hours of the dead girl on Sunday night, the night she is known to have been killed. Police have questioned several suspects, none of whom have been able to throw any light on the baffling crime.

Patton Hurls 3 New Divisions

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Patton doubled his attack toward the Rhine today, throwing in three more American divisions and extending his drive to both sides of Metz. German radio commentators declared the U. S. Third Army commander signalled the prelude to "the big offensive" with an earth-shaking barrage in an effort "to burst open the historical gate to the Palatinate which was chosen by Napoleon as the marching route for his battalions and regiments."

Front line dispatches said Patton sent two divisions into action north of fort-ringed Metz and another to join the three which attacked south of the city on a 25-mile front yesterday and gained up to three miles.

At least 16 villages were captured in the combined advance of the Third and Seventh Armies, with two Third Army corps, the 12th and 20th, in action. Several of the villages had been previously captured however, and relinquished in the face of counter-attacks.

South of Metz the attack spread all the way from Cheminot, 10 miles south of Metz and four miles east of the Moselle, to the Chateau-Salins area where the doughboys hammered a mile-deep wedge north of the Rhine-Marne canal at a point 20 miles east of Nancy and an equal distance west of Sarrebourg.

The Germans said the "Americans are making feverish preparations for a new offensive in the Aachen region" also and were seeking to eliminate German artillery observation posts by dropping smoke canisters on them. Artillery fire was intensified on both sides, the Germans said.

In Holland where the first snow of the season fell last night, Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army had seized all of Walcheren island at the mouth of the Schelde except a tiny pocket around the villages of Buttinge and St. Laurens. This pocket was isolated from the coast.

South of the Maas (Meuse) Poles had blown their way through the concrete defenses around the southern end of the Moerdijk bridges and were attacking bridgehead.

The U. S. First Army was slowly regaining ground lost this week southeast of Aachen to strong German counter-attacks.

The Allied communique said the Americans were advancing slowly against heavy enemy pressure in the area south of Vic-sur-Seille and southwest of the town of Hurtgen against "very heavy resistance." West of Schmidt, which the First Army reached before being thrown back, enemy pockets are being mopped up, the announcement said.

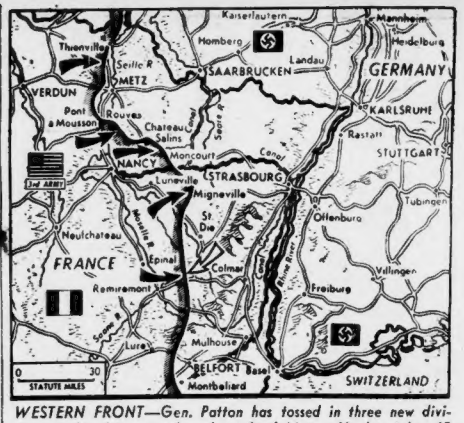
The Third Army divisions which attacked this morning near Metz made minor gains. Opposition ranged from light to moderate.

The 19th Division crossed the Moselle in two places north of Metz. Another fresh division, still unidentified in dispatches, established a bridgehead over a Moselle tributary.

The Fifth Division pushed across the Seille river and occupied Cheminot, 10 miles due south of Met and five miles northeast of Pont-a-Mousson on the Moselle, which was captured by the Americans recently after several unsuccessful attempts.

Below the Third Army zone, Lt. Gen. Patch's Seventh Army captured Migneville, 29 miles from Nancy.

Patch's troops also won Les Baroques, within 3½ miles of St. Die, first town in the Saales pass which leads northeastward to Strasbourg on the Rhine.



WESTERN FRONT—Gen. Patton has tossed in three new divisions in his drives north and south of Metz. He has taken 12 towns below that city in denting enemy lines in the Chateau-Salins sector. Southeast of Nancy the Yanks freed Migneville . . . while German counter attacks (open arrow) were checked east of Epinal.

Raging Typhoon Stops Yank Drive on Leyte

By Associated Press

Weary, water-soaked American infantrymen fought in a raging 100-mile-an-hour typhoon on the slippery ridges of northern Leyte island today against fresh Japanese soldiers whose arrogant new commander boasted he would demand "unconditional surrender" of Gen. MacArthur.

Mud-soaked Yanks were temporarily stopped in their Philippines invasion, more by the blinding storm than by the reinforced enemy.

Tokyo radio admitted the Japanese, too, were halted in their southeast China drive through cold rain against "bitterly resisting" Chinese in hilly Kweilin. Chungking claimed the Japs, attacking from three directions, were using poison gas.

Only important land progress was reported from Burma, where Indian and British troops captured Ft. White in two days of heavy fighting. The Allies, who had advanced 15 miles from Tiddim, pushed on from Ft. White toward Kalemyo, 15 miles beyond.

Cocky little Gen. Yamashita, taking command in the Philippines in an attempt to bolster Japanese troops, bragged in Manila that in negotiating the surrender of Singapore he told the British commander:

"All I want to hear from you is yes or not. I expect to put the same question to MacArthur."

Infantrymen of the 24th Division, who have been fighting since they landed in the Philippines Oct. 20, made no gains but still held the offensive. They fought an uphill battle against Japanese from four divisions, three of them recently landed on Leyte. The Japs held ridges dominating the narrow, twisting trail leading to their Ormoc base, 15 miles to the south.

Artillery played a dominant role as the storm grounded planes and rain was so thick it was impossible for infantrymen to see the enemy.

Air action quieted in the face of the typhoon, but not before American Pacific and Philippines forces destroyed more than 48 Japanese planes, damaged a destroyer, sank a freighter-transport, and raided 15 island groups from the Volcanos to the Dutch Indies.

Reds Cross Over Danube In North Yugoslavia Drive

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—The German high command said today the Russians had crossed the Danube at Apatin, in northern Yugoslavia 15 miles south of the Hungarian border and 125 miles south of Budapest, and a "battle is still raging there."

The broadcast communique said the Russians had penetrated that part of Apatin which is on the west bank.

The Russians were also reported massing men and materials along the eastern front for the decisive action against the vital centers of Germany promised by Premier Stalin.

Budapest was considered the most likely target for a fresh and heavier assault. The Berlin radio reported new concentrations of Soviet tanks in the outskirts of the Hungarian capital.

Red Army spearheads have been reported in the northern and southeastern suburbs of Budapest, and a flanking armored column apparently is about 12 miles north of the city. Another quick advance along the Danube river valley in that sector was reported.

Continental broadcasts told of open revolt inside Budapest. The Paris radio said street fighting took place in Pest on the east bank of the Danube and declared some Hungarian soldiers and workers had gone over to the Russian forces.

Churchill Urges 'Big 3' Meeting

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill declared today "It is high time we had another triple conference" of himself, President Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin.

Such a meeting, he said at the Lord Mayor's luncheon, "might easily bridge the sufferings of mankind and stop the fearful process of destruction which is now raving the earth."

"The prospects of such a meeting," Churchill said, "have been vastly improved by the results of the presidential elections in the United States . . ."

Pausing while the audience applauded, Churchill added:

"— — and for which we waited so breathlessly on Tuesday last."

His auditors also applauded when he declared that Marshal Montgomery had opened the Schelde astuary to the great Belgian port of Antwerp. This he said put Antwerp "at the disposal of the northern flank of the Allied armies which will presently move into Germany for the final struggle."

The operation cost heavy British and Canadian casualties, however, he added.

"We must be very careful ourselves to avoid mixing ourselves up in American political affairs. I offer my thanks to Parliament, press and top ublic men of all parties and no parties—perhaps especially to them—for the care and restraint which have made all potential indiscretions die upon their lips," he said.

Churchill also praised Gov. Dewey for sportsmanship in defeat, saying: "What a model this would be to those states where political differences are not solvable by word or vote, where the question of who is to be in and who is to be out may be one of life and death, to be settled by violence and intrigue and where there may be but a short gap between being the ruler and being the victim."

Describing air attacks upon Germany, the Prime Minister asserted "We have not suffered one-tenth, and we shall not suffer one-tenth, of what is being meted out to those who first started and developed this cruel and merciless form of attack."

He said no one could be blamed for hoping that victory would come to the Allies and peace to Europe in 1945, provided "he does not slacken his or her efforts for a moment."

Churchill expressed "great joy" that his co-operation with President Roosevelt would be continued.

"HELL-LION" — Marine Maj. Edward J. McGee, 27, of Brookline, member of the famous "Hell-Lions" squadron in the South Pacific, has been credited with destroying a Zero during combat in that area. Maj. McGee is married and has one child.

London Press Asks Stalin Come to Britain

LONDON, Nov. 9 (INS)—On the ground that Prime Minister Churchill already has traveled far and has been twice stricken with illness on his journeys, the London Evening News today made the first editorial request that any forthcoming conference of the big three—Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin—should be held in London.

Informed circles meanwhile saw a big "if" inw hether Stalin can be persuaded to leave Russia.

Although the matter is solely speculative, the consensus is that a meeting certainly will be held before the end of the year, possibly in the next two or three weeks.

Robots Kill 5, Scores Hurt

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—At least five persons were killed and scores injured during the night when flying bombs crashed in residential areas in southern England.

London was alerted for the first time in three days.

A number of the missiles were shot down over the east coast.

The German radio—which yesterday proclaimed that the Nazis' new V-2 rocket projectile already has been launched against London—declared today that attacks with this weapon will be stepped up.

Police Quiz Slain Girl's School Pals

Hysteria and fear gripped classmates of slain Marie Rose LaCombe, 14, today, forcing authorities to cancel a scheduled assembly of Salem High School students as they pressed their hunt for the slayer of the pretty sophomore whose ravished body was found behind the school football stadium.

After conferring with Dist. Atty. Cregg, Principal Chester A. Arnold said it had been decided to cancel the assembly and appeal to the students individually to give any information they have which might help in solving the brutal murder.

At least one student friend of the dead girl became hysterical when school authorities skope about the case to her and it was decided it would be best to interview some 60 school chums, both boys and girls, individually and privately.

Although Marie was of a quiet and retiring nature, school authorities said these students knew her well and might furnish information which would help the investigation of the crime, which bears such a striking similarity to the unsolved murder of Frances Cochran, 19, Lynn bookkeeper. The latter's body was discovered in June, 1941, about a mile from the spot behind the school where Marie's body was found.

Still sought by authorities is the murder weapon, with which the slayer battered the head of the victim. A bloodstained rock was found near her ravished body but investigators have not yet determined this was used to crush out her life.

On the basis of medical examination, authorities are convinced the girl, last seen at the bus terminal near Town House sq., only a half-mile from her Cypress st. home, at 8:15 p. m. Sunday, died between then and midnight although her body was not found until just before noon yesterday.

The condition of her clothing, still sodden from the rain and snow of Monday, indicated it had lain there undiscovered, although students frequently pass there on the way to and from school, from Sunday night until Tuesday.

Although evidence unearthed thus far indicates the slain girl apparently had a date Sunday evening, close friends insist she cared nothing for boys and often jibed at girl friends for their interest in them.

Mrs. Alice Hart, of Milk st., grandmother of Alice Best, 15-year-old classmate of the dead girl, said as far as she knew her granddaughter was Marie's only intimate girl friend and that she had no boy friends.

"I had encouraged Alice's friendship with Marie because she was such a fine girl," Mrs. Hart said today. "Alice is heartbroken over the whole thing. We last saw Marie Friday when she was at our house after school before she went to work."

Investigation, however, shows the dead girl resorted to subterfuge to get out of her house Sunday night after her father, Joseph C. LaCombe, a carpenter, denied

SCENE OF SEX SLAYING—Police today seek a possible connection between the sex murder of Marie Rose LaCombe, 14-year-old Salem school girl, whose skull-crushed body was found behind Salem High School (1), in a rocky, barren field (2), opposite Bertuccio ave. (3), and the brutal sex slaying of Frances Cochran, 19-year-old Ly nn girl, whose body was found 1¾ miles from the scene of new crime.

MARIE ROSE LA COMBE

Dressed in Her Best

Marie Rose LaCombe was dressed in her Sunday best when she departed from home to keep her rendezvous with death.

The youngster, exceptionally pretty, was five feet four inches tall and looked more mature than her 14 years. She weighed 120 pounds, had dark curly brown hair.

The clothing of the victim was rain-soaked by at least two nights of rain and light snow. She was wearing a brown teddy bear polo coat, blue wool skirt, brown suede high-heeled shoes and a bright yellow blouse. Her stockings were beige colored rayons and her hat was dark brown felt with a jaunty feather.

Beside her body was her large brown leather handbag, the contents of which immediately were taken by state detectives. It contained the usual cosmetics young girls carry.

Nazis Clear Warsaw Of Every Pole, Report

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (INS)—The Polish telegraph agency, quoting the resistance radio inside Poland, reported the Germans had deported more than a million inhabitants of Warsaw under a plan that cleared the Polish capital of every Pole.

Marie's Mother Sobs Her Grief

A tragic family group—a grim, big-fisted carpenter, his grieving wife and their two stunned boys—sat in the kitchen of their Salem tenement today to consider the thing that had happened.

They were the family of Marie Rose LaCombe, a girl of 14, victim of a beast who wanted to possess her so much he ravished her, then stilled her forever with hammer-like blows on her head.

Now, her mother, Mrs. Rose Marie LaCombe, looked slowly around the kitchen, a neat kitchen cleaned with Franco-American thoroughness, until her eyes met those of her husband, Joseph, the carpenter. She whispered, "I used to help her with her shorthand."

Joseph LaCombe saw the tear welling again. He stood up and cleared his throat. "She was a good girl," he said, "she was a GOOD girl. Now excuse me, I will be right back, Mother."

Mrs. LaCombe nodded and concentrated her eyes on her hand, on the kitchen table. Their sons, Paul, 12, and Louis, 15, looked at each other, looked at her and looked out the window.

Their father came back with a note book of the type used by high school students. "Remember," he asked his wife gruffly, "she bought this for her lessons only last week?"

"She never used it," said his wife. She turned to a visitor and said, "I am a stenographer, I liked to help Marie Rose with her shorthand. She was my second child, my only daughter. Her name was like mine . . . Marie Rose . . . Rose Marie."

There was a long pause. Mrs. LaCombe said in a low tone, "I am willing to help. But I can think of nothing."

Joseph LaCombe was seated again by the stove. As his wife spoke he studied his big hands. They were clenched on his thighs, the knuckles white. He relaxed them and looked at his boys. Their 'teen-age hands had been made into fists too. They didn't speak.

"She never had a date," said Mrs. LaCombe. "She would spend much time studying. She would read style magazines so she could improve her own clothes. She could sew well."

"She was like you," said Joseph LaCombe.

"I can't sleep," said his wife.

"I know," he said.

"I keep seeing things," she explained to him.

He went to her and rested a hand on her shoulder as though some of his strength might enter her that way.

Mrs. LaCombe held a handkerchief to her eyes. The boys moved in their chairs. She heard them and brought the handkerchief away. Her eyes were swollen. She looked up at her husband and explained:

"It is a little bit too much."

"You were a good mother to her," said Joseph LaCombe. Then he said, "Yes, it is a little bit too much . . . "

Missing 98 Precincts Key to Kelly-Barnes Tilt

Still undecided, with returns awaited from 98 missing precincts, the bitterly-fought contest for attorney-general early today found Clarence A. Barnes of Mansfield leading his Democratic opponent, former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly, by 9302 votes.

But with changes occurring hourly, and with precincts yet to be heard from in such Democratic strongholds as Lowell, Cambridge, Revere and Worcester, the outcome is expected to be so close that a recount seems inevitable regardless of who emerges victorious.

The battle between the 62-year-old Republican member of the Executive Council and the Dorchester Democrat has been a seesaw affair since the ballot count began.

In the early returns Kelly piled up a lead, but this was drastically reduced when an error was discovered in the tabulation of a huge block of votes which should have been credited to his opponent. Then Barnes pulled ahead and at one time was in front by 40,000.

This was gradually reduced last night to 14,507 and early today was whittled away to the 9302 margin.

The last nine precincts to report, before wearied election officials put off further counting until today, cut Barnes' lead by 5187 and gave Kelly supporters fresh hope.

Pointing out that the 98 precincts to be counted today represent a sizable vote, Kelly's backers are hopeful of picking up thousands of votes in Cambridge which went Democratic by 10,000; in Lowell, Democratic by 17,000; in Revere and Worcester where the head of the Democratic ticket piled up tremendous pluralities.

If a recount becomes necessary, it will be three weeks to a month before the final winner is determined.

Should Barnes win, he would become the third major state official to survive the Democratic sweep. The others are Gov. Saltonstall, who won his Senate seat by piling up an overwhelming plurality of more than 400,000 over Mayor Corcoran of Cambridge, and Secretary of State Cook, perennial Republican winner, who defeated Mrs. Margaret M. O'Riordan by better than 350,000.

The Democrats wrested control of the executive council, overturning their representation from a 7 to 1 minority to a 5 to 3 majority, although Lt. Gov.-elect Bradford's vote will give the Republicans four voices.

Republican council members will be Clayton L. Havey of Boston, Frank A. Brooks of Concord, both re-elected, and Victor A. Friend of Melrose. Democratic members will be John J. Sawtelle of Boston, re-elected unopposed; Joseph P. Clarke, Jr., of Fall River, who won the seat Barnes vacated; Robert V. O'Sullivan of Lawrence; James J. Marshall of Worcester, and James H. Buckley of Springfield.

The Republicans lost five seats in the State Senate. Among those unseated was Joseph F. Francis of Fairhaven Republican floor leader at the last session and likely to have been named Senate president if he had won. The G. O. P. maintained a Senate majority, but it was narrowed from 26 to 14 to 22 to 18, and also kept their control of the House.

India Cool Over Election

NEW DELHI, Nov. 9 (AP)—The first editorial comment on President Roosevelt's re-election came today from the strongly nationalist Hindustan Times, edited by Mohandas Ganhi's son, Devadas, which said:

"As far as India's own immediate interests are concerned, it was all tweedledum and tweedledee, for neither the Democrats nor the Republicans are in the least worried about the freedom of this country. Both platforms maintained scrupulous silence about India."

Chungking Hails "Indispensable" F. D.

CHUNGKING, Nov. 9 (AP)—The official Central Daily News today hailed President Roosevelt as "indispensable, not only to the United States but to the world."

"The world needs him in the war against aggression and the building of an edifice to safeguard permanent peace," the Chinese paper said.

The newspaper Ta Kung Pao said, "Roosevelt led the world crusade against aggression and laid the foundation for victory of the democratic nations." It added, "Mankind waits for this extraordinary man to accomplish greater and more extraordinary deeds."

2 States Vote Closed Shop Ban

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Incomplete returns indicated today that both Florida and Arkansas voters had approved state constitutional amendments outlawing the closed union shop. A similar ban was beaten 2 to 1 in a California referendum. Labor organizations fought the proposal.

With only 264 precincts out of 1480 in Florida untabulated, the amendment led by 14,300. The Arkansas vote stood 71,747 for and 64,897 against the ban.

In both states the amendments provide that residents could not be denied employment because of membership or non-membership in a labor union.

Rep. Clare Luce To Support FD

GREENWICH, Ct., Nov. 9 (INS)—Rep. Clare Boothe Luce (R.) of Connecticut, re-elected by a narrow margin, said today she would support President Roosevelt "on every measure which will hasten victory and insure a just and lasting peace."

Gov. Dewey Rallies Nation To Post-Election Harmony

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (INS)—President Roosevelt, overwhelmingly re-elected to a fourth term, can look forward today to widespread support of his plea to the American people to "unite to win the war and to achieve lasting peace."

Gov. Dewey, defeated Republican nominee, touched off a harmony note and from all sections of the nation there arose evidence that the American people have put partisan differences in the election behind them to concentrate on martial victory.

The President's great victory brought speculation over the future. There was talk of cabinet changes, quick moves to create a world peace organization and social security expansion when Congress reconvenes next Tuesday.

Mr. Roosevelt gave Gov. Dewey a bad beating in the electoral college but ran behind his popular pluralities of previous elections. The electoral vote, with 266 needed for victory, was:

ROOSEVELT: 35 states with 413 votes.

DEWEY: 13 states (including Michigan) with 118 votes.

Their popular vote early today was:

ROOSEVELT: 23,610,587.

DEWEY: 20,743,268.

The President retained Democratic control of Congress but by a smaller margin than in 1940. The new and 1940 lineups are:

SEATE

	New	1940
Democrats	58	66
Republicans	37	28
Others	1	2

HOUSE

	New	1940
Democrats	238	267
Republicans	194	162
Others	3	6

Actually, over the 1942 and interim elections, the Democrats gained 23 seats in the House, but merely held their own in the Senate.

The Democrats gained Governors in Ohio, Massachusetts, Missouri, Washington and Idaho, but lost out to Republicans in Indiana and North Dakota.

This leaves the new lineup of Governors 25 Democrats, 23 Republicans, a net gain of three for the Democrats. The G. O. P., however, retains holdover Governors in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, while re-electing Republican Governors in Illinois and Michigan.

Strangely enough, Gov. Dewey was beaten overwhelmingly in the electoral college, he ran so strong a national race that his party is stronger today than when Wendell Willkie went down to defeat in 1940.

Already some G. O. P. seers are looking forward to 1948, but Gov. Dewey waved aside all questions about his political future.

He is a potent 1948 figure if he can win re-election as New York's Governor two years hence. He will be only 46 in 1948.

There is much talk of a cabinet shakeup in the very near future. Early retirement of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins is expected and Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, New York regional war manpower director, is widely touted.

Some observers also expect to see Sidney Hillman in the cabinet, but others assert he prefers to remain out of public office.

Hope'll Make Picture—If Someone Suspends War

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9 (AP)—Bob Hope says he is probably the first actor in Hollywood who ever suspended a studio.

That isn't the way Paramount Studio tells it. Paramount announced yesterday it had suspended the comedian for failure to report for work Monday on his third scheduled picture this year.

"If somebody'll suspend the war," cracked the film and radio star, "I'll be very happy to start another picture."

Breezy Bob was serious as he explained to a reporter:

"Look: Two months ago I came back from the Southwest Pacific—tired." (He and his troupe had traveled 30,000 miles, given 150 shows for GIs.) "Just now I've been to Toronto, New York, Akron, Chicago and Topeka—all war benefit appearances.

"In the next month I do six more shows—three in Chicago and one each in Atlanta, Cleveland and Independence, Kan.—for the sixth war loan, for servicemen and wounded veterans. These commitments were made six months ago.

"And I've got five or ten wires on my desk, asking me to give shows at other service camps along the way. Those things are important. There are thousands of kids waiting there.

"But all that's a little rough. With a schedule like that I just haven't time to knock off another picture; I can't get to that 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. job at the studio. My doctor has advised me to take it easy.

"So I asked the studio—nicely—to release me until the first of the year. They suspended me? No, I really suspended them.

"It'll give the country a nice rest. After all, how often can people stand to look at my kisser?"

A studio representative said the length of Hope's indefinite suspension would be added to the duration of his contract. Whether legal action may result, the spokesman added, is uncertain.

Mother Faces Court In Infant Strangling

LOWELL, Nov. 9—Tearful in her remorse, Mrs. George Dukeshire, 26-year-old wife of a Lynn General Electric worker, faced Judge Arthur L. Eno in Lowell court today to answer police charges that she choked to death her 3-week-old son.

Police testified that the young mother, who had brought her baby home from a hospital maternity ward only a few days ago, confessed she had been tempted to strangle the infant for several days and finally yielded.

Neighbors called the fire department ambulance to the Dukeshire home in Irving st. when they noticed the child was blue in the face. Ambulance attendants immediately rushed the boy to St. John's Hospital but he was pronounced dead.

Noting the infant's blue face and other evidences of strangulation, hospital authorities telephoned police who took Mrs. Dukeshire to the station for questioning.

"I did it on the spur of the moment," the mother was quoted by police.

Her husband, summoned from his work, was grief stricken when informed of the tragedy.

Britain to Back Holland Claims

LONDON, Nov. 9 (INS)—Deputy Prime Minister Attlee told Parliament today the British government would support just claims made by Holland against Germany for territorial compensation.

A note had been received from the Netherlands government reserving Holland's rights, he announced. The Dutch demand "a substantial part" of Prussian territory adjoining Holland.

This territory, the Dutch government stated, either could be ceded to Holland or be brought into the economic orbit of the Netherlands in some other manner.

The whole world, Attlee remarked, "had been shocked by the devastation and destruction wantonly wrought in Holland by the German invaders."

Taxpayers Argue Against 'L' Payment

Seeking to stop the Commonwealth from paying $3,652,573 to the Boston Elevated for deficits incurred in 1941, George E. Richards and 28 other taxpayers continued their testimony today at a hearing before Judge Felix Forte in Suffolk Superior Court.

The taxpayers' suit names the El trustees and the state treasurer as defendants and claims the law permitting payments of deficits is unconstitutional because it diverts public funds to private enterprise.

War Vet Kills Girl, Turns Gun on Self

RHINELANDER, Wis., Nov. 9 (INS)—A 21-year-old discharged war veteran, Ray Magnant, shot and killed Jean Rinka, 17, then turned the gun on himself.

Magnant, police said, was given a medical discharge after he suffered a fractured neck in an accident.

The accident occurred as the craft was on a night training mission.

Medical officers from Bradley Field, Ct., administered to the injured men at the scene. It was necessary to cut away wreckage in order to extricate one of the victims.

Perils of Merrill

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 9 (AP)—Here's the saga of misfortunes befalling Merrill Clement, 35, since he was four:

Stung by bees (twice) in wholesale lots, kicked by a horse, struck by lightning, punctured stomach by falling on a stick while running away from a bull, treed by another bull, cut off parts of three fingers in a saw, and hit under the eye by a cement mixer crank.

Persistence Wins

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., Nov. 9 (AP)—Recruit Reception Center officials say Pvt. Stanley S. Salzenstein is, to their knowledge, the smallest man in the U. S. Army.

Rejected for service because he was only 4 feet 10½ inches—an inch and one-half below the War Department's requirements, Salzenstein started writing letters 10 months ago.

He wrote to his draft board, War Department officials and six times to President Roosevelt. The War Department finally relented, told his local board that objections to his height would be waived.

Flames roared through the Comfort Pillow and Feather Co., Harvard st., Somerville, today and for a time threatened a wide industrial area.

Milton Baum of Kirkwood rd., Brighton, one of the owners, was unable immediately to give damage estimate as was Fire Chief John C. McNally of Somerville.

The blaze started in the dust-room of the plant and sped rapidly throughout the long, rambling building.

Kentucky Editor Gets OWI Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Neil Dalton of the Louisville Courier Journal is the new director of the domestic branch of the Office of War Information, succeeding George W. Healy, Jr., who has returned to New Orleans.

Dalton has been with the OWI about six months on leave from his position as assistant to Lt. Com. G. Barry Bingham, president of the Louisville Courier Journal and Times.

OWI Director Elmer Davis said Healy had "served with distinction . . . I am grateful to him and to the Times-Picayune for having let us borrow his talents as editor and executive."

Boy, 16, Admits Killing In Commando Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (INS)—Police announced today a 16-year-old boy had confessed to the "commando killing" of 4-year-old William Brach of the Bronx.

They said the youths confessed hanging the Bronx youngster by using "commando tactics" he said he had learned "from the movies."

Earlier, police had held for questioning an 8-year-old brother of the dead boy and had announced the slaying was an accident which occurred during a game of "commando."

U. S. Air Views Win Big Point

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—The effort to reach a world aviation agreement proceeded today along a path limited to separate national operation of airlines..

The issue of an international company to own and operate aircraft on global routes was eliminated by giving decent burial to the joint proposal of New Zealand and Australia.

The United States plan, built around the theory of freedom of flight; the Canadian proposal, based on assignment of routes through a world agency, and the United Kingdom plan calling for a division of traffic formula, remain for discussion.

The New Zealand - Australia plan, adopted at Canberra early this year, was tied in closely with the thought of postwar security, a thought which the U. S., at least, feels belongs in the Dumbarton Oaks meeting rather than here.

Thus the decision not to consider the Anzac idea because of a lack of unanimity represents a step in the direction of the U. S.

Also indicative of an approach to the American view is the conference's growing emphasis on the idea of getting air transport started as quickly as possible

Archbishop Will Fill Several Pastorates

Now that he has been officially installed as Archbishop of Boston, Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, D.D., is expected soon to fill vacancies in several pastorates caused by deaths in recent months, it was reported today.

The most important post in the archdiocese to be filled is the one left vacant by His Excellency's elevation—that of auxiliary bishop of the diocese.

This appointment will be made by Pope Pius XII, probably on recommendation of members of the American hierarchy. Because of the size of the archdiocese, which numbers more than 1,133,000 Catholics, the archbishop needs the assistance of an auxiliary bishop for confirmations, visitations and certain administrative functions.

Although it is possible an auxiliary bishop might come from some other section of the nation, it was generally believed today the post would be filled from among the monsignori within the archdiocese.

As visiting high-ranking prelates of the church departed today after attending the elevation rites of Archbishop Cushing at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, it was pointed out that vacancies still exist in other dioceses than Boston.

Successors are still to be named for the late Bishop John B. Peterson of Manchester, N. H., and the late Bishop John A. Duffy of Buffalo, N. Y.

LaCombe

her permission because she had attended the Paramount Theater in the afternoon and had to go to school in the morning.

The investigation shows she then begged for permission to go to a nearby store for some candy and that this was granted.

Before returning home, however, she stopped at the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Raymond Jeffrey, of Cabot st., whose children she sometimes cared for in the evening. Mrs. Jefrey said she told the girl she would not need her that evening and recalled she appeared "flushed and excited."

Marie returned home and told her father:

"Daddy, Mrs. Jeffrey wants me to take care of the children tonight. That will be all right, won't it?"

Her father agreed and the girl donned her best clothes and left the house.

She stopped again at the Jeffrey home, calling this time at the rear door and again appearing excited.

She explained her dressed-up appearance to Mrs. Jeffrey by saying she was going to visit an aunt with her mother.

She spent a few moments chatting with the neighbor and then went along, apparently turning into nearby Canal st. and making her way toward Town House sq. and the bus terminal.

"She looked awfully pretty," Mrs. Jeffrey told investigators. "She was flushed and excited. I can see it all now. She was happy. She was going to have the whole evening out."

SEEN BY CHUM

Only one other person save the killer saw her alive after that, as far as probers have been able to learn.

A girl chum saw Marie at 8:15 that evening at the Salem bus terminal in Town House sq.

Dr. Alan R. Moritz, State police pathologist, reported Marie was criminally attacked and then killed by repeated blows on the head. A bright scarf she wore was knotted about her throat, but she did not die of strangulation. Her head was fractured, crushed on both sides by some heavy weapon.

Three Salem boys, Joseph Rache, 12, of Palmer st.; Roland Simard, 12, of Harrison ave., and Richard Boulay, 11, of Palmer st., found the body. Frightened, they ran to the nearest home. Investigators soon were at the scene.

City Marshal Harkins was among the first to arrive. He summoned state police detectives and Dist. Atty. Cregg. Marshal Harkins was first to view the battered body of Frances Cochran three years ago. For a time, he headed the probe until it was found the spot was just over the city limits, on the Lynn side of the Lynn-Salem line.

EXCELLENT STUDENT

The furore of that gruesome discovery never died. Probers still have their files open. Hundreds of suspects have been questioned and the crime held top spot in the state's unsolved sex-slayings until the body of little Frances McGrath was found last summer in a pine grove in Norwell.

Investigators were unwilling to make any comparison of the crimes. Briefly, they are intent on getting all the facts in the present crime, as speedily as possible, so that the killing of Marie LaCombe will not join the other two unsolved crimes.

State detectives thus far have learned that not only was Marie exceptionally pretty, but that she was popular with all who knew her. She was an excellent student and was not known to have any irregular habits.

She treated her boy and girl friends alike and it was only this fall that she had shown a natural girl's urge to go to parties and enjoy the friendship of boys.

Marie only a few weeks ago was given her first long evening dress. She prized it highly and had planned for school dances of the winter season. Her high-heeled shoes were another of her little extravagances. She had earned them herself, however, at odd jobs after school hours.

Inconsolable today was the victim's mother, Mrs. Rose LaCombe, who had two other children, Louis, 15, and Paul, 12.

In her free hours from school and during vacations, Marie was working as secretary-bookkeeper at Jeffery Brothers, an upholstery company.

In speaking for Cregg, Asst. Dist. Atty. Callahan isued a public appeal for help in solving the crime speedily.

"These crimes must end," he said. "I would like to hear from anyone who knew Marie LaCombe. I want to know who her friends were and I would like to talk with anyone who saw her anytime Sunday, especially after 8:15 Sunday night.

"We are certain, from medical opinions of both Dr. Moritz and Medical Examiner Ralph E. Fess of Peabody, that she died some time between the hour she last was seen and midnight. The public must make this case their own case. They must feel they also have a duty to stop this sort of thing. We will welcome help of any kind."

Marie was reported missing Monday morning and a New England-wide alarm had been sounded. Her father called Salem authorities when he arose and found she had not been home.

Combat GI's Live Life of Luxury At Rainbow Corner Club in Paris

By LORELLE HEARST
Special Correspondent, Boston Evening American

PARIS, Nov. 9—Rainbow Corner, the American Red Cross Club for GI's, is open and running on all fours here.

It is headed by Mrs. Harvey Gibson, whose husband is commissioner of the American Red Cross in Great Britain.

Rainbow Corner is the starting line for every GI when he arrives in Paris. Every accommodation is supplied to them from soup to nuts.

It is located in the Hotel de Paris on the Boulevard Madeleine.

Ont front there is one of the sidewalk cafes which we see in the movies so ofen.

At the moment of bursting combat, GI's totaling some 12,500 boys a day pass in and out of this club. Sleeping accommodations are provided for 600 boys every 48 hours. Combat boys can sleep in the hotel two weeks if their leave is that long.

They make 25,000 doughnuts a day, figuring that each GI has two.

A French artist comes in there every day and does pen sketches. Any boy who so wishes can have his picture sent home.

Some of these kids do not write home often but they like to have a sketch sent home so the family will know they are alive and in good health.

American Red Cross girls also write letters home for the boys, giving the families a report on the GI's.

The lobby has windows of merchandise such as perfume, lingerie, scarfs, bags, and all sorts of lovely French things which the boys send home.

Charming French girls are working here to take the boys shopping. They also act as hostesses, as do the American girls.

Mailing of presents home became so heavy the government has given Rainbow corner its own postoffice.

All the boys I talked with say they are happier here than in London. The idea of being in Paris is exciting in itself to them, but they say they find the French people cozy and friendly to them.

Young French girls are allowed to go out with the boys in the daytime, but not at night.

A big barber shop is in operation where three manicurists and four barbers are kept busy every minute of the day.

Rooms have two to four beds and all have private baths and hot water.

To sleep in beds is a terrific treat to the boys.

Movies run four times a day, showing a feature, short and newsreel.

A bar provides cola drinks and ice cream and beer, and this is very popular.

The grill room in this club is like a typical French cafe with French music every night and a cozy atmosphere.

Upstairs there is a large dance floor and a good hot dance band and lots of pretty American and French girls to dance with.

On the mezzanine floor concerts are given several times a week by some of the best artists in the musical world of Paris.

It would do your heart good to see this wonderful club and these wonderful boys in it.

It certainly did mine good.

Another Group Tops Fund Goal

The War Group of the Public Service Division has gone over the top with 110 per cent of its goal pledged and reports still coming in, volunteer workers of the Greater Boston United War Fund were informed today at the fourth Dutch treat report luncheon at the Boston City Club.

In recognition of the group's superb record, representatives from each of the four units were at the head table: Lt. Col. Francis C. Crotty, industrial relations officer at the Watertown Arsenal and vice-chairman of the War group; Capt. Donald G. Enoch, vice-chairman of the Northeastern's Sector's fund campaign, Maj William H. Meanix of the First Service Command, co-chairman of the War Group, and It. Seymour Miller, fund chairman at the Boston Army Base.

Principal speaker was Orlando Ingvoldstad, prominent educator and member of the Chicago Committee of World Council of Churches. He recently has been active in Relief for Norway, a fund affiliate.

The Public Service Division announced seven more schools had exceeded their goals. They are the William E. Russell, Washington Irving, Gilbert Stuart, Elihu Greenwood and Edmund P. Tileston district schools, and the Lowell and Quincy district schools.

First Lady Again Will Arouse Critics

By JANE EADS

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, indefatigable First Lady for the past 12 years, will return again as mistress of the White House, still insisting upon being herself.

She has gotten used to the occasional eyebrow-raising and the criticisms which have accompanied her precedent-scrapping career.

There have been those who say Eleanor Roosevelt talks too much, is too much in formal a manner, her travels about too much, in too informal a manner, her opposed many causes which her critics declare the President's wife shouldn't get mixed up with.

Nevertheless, she is still one of the most popular first ladies this country has had—direct, unassuming, always gracious. Mrs. Roosevelt's boundless energy and varied interests have made many ask, "How does she do it?"

Did she get up early every morning, full of pep, she once was asked at a news conference. Did she sleep late some mornings? The first question was answered with a laugh, but it brought a response from Miss Malvina Thompson, her secretary, who assured the newspaper women that Mrs. Roosevelt arose every morning full of pep.

She never sleeps late mornings. Always gets up at least by 8:00 because "you always have to start a house going early and it can't be later than that."

She insisted that she never feels exhausted, never takes a nap in the afternoon.

Born October 1884, and orphaned at 10, Eleanor Roosevelt lived with her grandmother, Mrs. Valentine Hall, at Tivoli, N. Y., who warned her early:

"You are a girl and you have to be more sensible and thoughtful than your brothers."

This is perhaps the reason why, in the course of her long, independent public career, she has maintained her own opinions and her own convictions, which have not entirely coincided with her husband's.

Dorothy Kilgallen writes "Broadway" every day for the Boston American.

Jap Planes Rushed to Leyte

AT A LEYTE AIRBASE Philippines, Nov 8 (delayed) (AP) (via Army radio)—From all indications the Japanese are rushing considerable air strength into the Philippines from Chinese and Japanese bases in an attempt to break the American stranglehold on Leyte, say American pilots.

Many types of Japanese planes, from radial-engined Oscar fighters, brothers to twin-engined heavy bombers, have been encountered in the hectic days since American Army fighters took over the job of air cover from the Navy.

Most of the planes are first rate, the American pilots say, but the Japanese pilots are from the extremely clever and during the tumid In some cases Japanese pilots have been known to run even when [illegible] attacking Am [illegible]

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q.—If two sons have been lost in this war, may parents request that the only remaining son in the service be released or transferred out of combat area?

C. P., Boston.

A.—Yes. a request may be made for such release or transfer. The War Department policy provides for consideration of such requests. For further details write to Hq. First Service Command, Personal Affairs Officer, 808 Commonwealth ave., Boston.

Q.—If a soldier has full insurance and is married, can he give half to his wife and half to his mother, or must it all go to one or the other?

T. Y., Manchester, N. H.

A.—The soldier may designate both mother and wife as beneficiaries if he so desires.

Q.—When a man is drafted and has a wife and three children, how will she be able to get along until the government sends the money allowed for them?

T. L., New Bedford.

A.—The soldier should request initial payment of Family Allowance as soon as he reports for active duty. This is released within a week or ten days and is payment for the month in which he enters service. The application is then effective the first of the following month, second check due shortly after the end of that month. If initial payment is received for November, next check is due in January for month of December.

Q.—I get $37 a month from two sons in the service. If I go to work, will I lose it?

A. M. H., Cambridge.

A.—You are entitled to the Family Allowance as long as you are dependent for substantial support on the two boys. If your earnings are sufficient to cover your needs, you would not be entitled to the government allowance, but the boys could send an amount of their pay without government allowance. Any substantial increase in income should be reported to the office from which your checks are received.

Q.—I receive Family Allowance from my husband in the Army. He divorced me four months ago and no support was given in the court. How long will I receive the checks? I have no children

L. C., Medford.

A.—Your checks should have been discontinued at the end of the month in which the divorce was awarded. The change of status — divorce — should be reported to the Office of Dependency Benefits, 213 Washington st., Newark 2, N. J., and a certified copy of the divorce decree submitted.

Q.—My son was killed in action He named me as beneficiary for his insurance and other benefits He got married about ten months ago and his wife got a form to file for six months' pay. Shouldn't that come to me? S. M., Newton.

A.—No. The six months' gratuity pay is paid to one of the following and in this order: widow, child, parent, brother or sister; where there is a lawful widow, no other person has any claim on that payment.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FD Faces Largest Program in History

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) —The fourth successive Roosevelt administration will take office Jan. 20 pledged to the most comprehensive program in any nation's history.

And the President, re-elected along with a stronger Democratic Congress than he has enjoyed for several years, can get down to work immediately on that program without waiting for the routine inaugural ceremonies on the Capitol plaza.

As outlined in the campaign, the administration policies of the future will point mainly to these general courses:

1—An orderly reconversion to civilian production in due time.

2—Demobilization as rapidly as is permitted by military necessity.

3—A world security organization with America's representatives endowed in advance with authority to act in halting aggression.

4—An America at peace, though kept prepared for any threat to peace.

5—A postwar economic goal of 60,000,000 productive jobs in a nation freed of wartime controls over wages, prices and production.

Other Roosevelt pledges for the future:

1—A merchant marine big enough to meet expanded world trade.

2—Easier capital and credit to spur industrial development.

3—Special capital and credit for small business, with every facility to buy government-owned plants, equipment and inventories.

4—Collective bargaining must be the main reliance for pay adjustments.

5—Elimination of poll taxes.

6—Expansion of the TVA idea into similar developments for Missouri, Arkansas and Columbia river basins.

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the Peace PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

THE ROOSEVELT VICTORY

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT has won the consent of the American people to a fourth term as President of the United States.

This was done in a free election, after full discussion of the issues.

The result is accepted in the traditional AMERICAN spirit—the spirit of giving it every chance to work out for the best, and of supporting it as long as the best interests of the country are thereby served, and of reserving critical judgment upon it until it has proved contrary to those interests.

Governor Dewey, the defeated candidate, has best expressed the spirit of the American people, as was expected of him and was his duty.

"Every good American," he said in his message of concession, "will wholeheartedly accept the will of the people."

His earnest hope for President Roosevelt in his next term, he said, is that it "will see speedy victory in the war, the establishment of lasting peace and the restoration of tranquility among our people."

His patriotic pledge to the nation is that: "All Americans will join me in the devout hope that in the difficult years ahead Divine Providence will guide and protect the President of the United States."

This is the RIGHT spirit, it is a very wonderful spirit and it is truly the AMERICAN spirit.

WE CONDUCT our American elections in calm or in stress, with varying degrees of vigor, often with wide difference of opinion.

In the present instance, we have conducted an American election in the crucial period of a great war.

But we always conduct them without restraint upon free discussion.

And when the results are determined, we accept them, as Governor Dewey has said, as the proper and rightful will of the people.

The rest of the world has watched this wartime American election with great amazement and some bewilderment.

It has seemed strange to many nations, those friendly to us as well as those with which we are at war, that we should adhere to the principles and processes of democracy in so grave an emergency.

But the American people know that this is the very TIME for their strongest adherence to democracy.

If we should only be democratic in tranquil times, and abandon democracy when there is stress and danger, we would not have preserved the free land of our fathers for more than a century and a half.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE are a UNITED people, behind their armed forces in the war, and behind the wholesome and determined aspirations of all of us for a speedy and complete victory and for a fruitful and progressive peace thereafter.

We go on today, tomorrow and for all the remaining days of world conflict, united to WIN THE WAR VICTORIOUSLY, and MAKE THE PEACE PERMANENTLY and BRING OUR BOYS HOME PROMPTLY.

That is the high responsibility of the continuing administration of President Roosevelt.

The nation in this election has expressed its confidence in the ability of the President and his administration to fulfill its responsibility.

MARGARET E. SANGSTER, discussing the financial angle of married life, said a man making $50 a week should give his wife $3.10 for her personal expenses. Very interesting. However, how about the many loving husbands who turn their pay checks over to their wives? How much should a wife, handling the family finances, give for personal expenses to a man making $50 a week?

PLEASE NOTE: There are 350,000,000 persons in India and 290,000,000 go barefooted. Why are British business men always so much concerned about European business? Why don't they develop business in India? Think of the opportunities there for a clever shoe manufacturer! . . . In a recent divorce case, a wife included the following statement in her testimony: "I never have to ask my husband what he has been doing. I can tell by the look in his eyes whether it's a girl, a drink or a bookmaker."

SPINSTERS: The National Spinsters' Pension Ass'n. That is the name of a British organization. Object is to get pensions for single women over 59. The pension asked is 10 shillings per week. This is the equivalent of about $2. Imagine being a poor old maid and having to try to live on two bucks a week. No wonder the British spinsters hunt so desperately for husbands.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. What did Byron have to say about the statuesque beauties like Lois De Fee? A. Only comment of Byron on this subject I can recall is: "She was divinely tall. I hate a dumpy woman." Q. Isn't it true that "Mary Had a Little Lamb" is a poem of unknown authorship? A. Not at all. Sara Hale, editor of Godey's Lady Book, wrote it. Sara also originated the slogan "See America First." Q. You are always talking about things you like. How about some of the things you don't like? A. Well, I don't like mushroom sauce, loud radio playing, muddy tracks, sopranos who finish on high C, carrots mixed with peas, Walt Whitman's poetry, small hats on large women, two-dollar bills, or women who feature long cigarette holders and broad A accents.

HEIGHT: most of the discerning judges of feminine beauty of past and present believed the height for a woman is between five feet six and five feet seven inches, without the benefit of high heels. The average height of the girls Flo Ziegfeld picked for his Follies was five feet, six inches. Michelangelo believed the ideal, feminine height was five feet seven inches. Irene Dunne is about right.

GET IT RIGHT: As to the argument which branch of the U. S. armed forces fired the first shot in World War I, the credit is given to the artillery. That's wrong. The first shot in World War I was fired by a U. S. Marine over the bow of a German cutter at Guam on April 6, 1917. Now let's see how well you are informed. Who fired the first shot for the United States in World War II? That is, after the declaration of war.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Enrico Caruso was the 18th child of his parents. Clarence Darrow was the fifth. Joe DiMaggio was the eighth. It is interesting to note how many famous people would never have been born had their parents believed in birth control.

SIGHT: Nature gave man the best eyes of all animals but still two-thirds of human beings need glasses. So states a man of science, quite evidently chiding human beings for carelessness as to eyesight. Many dogs and horses have poor eyesight, but nobody has yet designed spectacles for these unfortunate animals. As to human eyesight, it would improve it more attention were paid to intelligently placed and adequate lighting in offices, schools, homes, public libraries and street cars. Also, many people could improve their eyesight by eye exercises.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—This election campaign has set me to wondering whether those who sometimes tune in on the radio program called "Information, Please" realize what a desperate man they are hearing when Clifton Fadiman comes up with the answers.

Westbrook Pegler

I have been calling him Killer Fadiman, myself, lately because word was brought to me that he was going to liquidate me, as his pals would put it, as soon as he runs his life insurance up to $200,000 to provide for his loved ones in case the vicious capitalistic system should take a disapproving attitude toward this service to humanity.

This has me scared almost to death. If you notice that these essays are even more scratchy than usual nowadays, it is because I am spending my time hiding under the bed and the quarters are dark and kind of cramped.

The Killer moved up into Connecticut recently and, during the campaign against Clare Luce, took such a vigorous and threatening part that practically all of the old-style Nutmeg Republicans for miles around, especially the farmers, threw their properties on the market in fear of his savage anger against Republicans whom he threatened with an intimation of civil war if Mrs. Luce should win.

★ ★ ★

WHY, DO you know what he said one night in a speech against Mrs. Luce?

He said: "When a man talks about a woman, he is supposed to be gallant. But I am speaking of Mrs. Luce, our Congresswoman, and I propose to take gallantry and wring its neck."

Doesn't that give you an idea and do you blame me for being scared?

Naturally, I got some friends to do a little inquiring around for me to see what his record was as to neck-wringing and the reports are pretty terrifying.

They tell me he wrung a butterfly's neck with his bare hands one day last summer. They tell me that often, just for amusement and commando training for that civil war against the Republicans, he will take a grape between his thumb and forefinger, again with his bare hand, mind you, and crush it as you would—well, as you would a grape, if you were Killer Fadiman.

They tell me that he is just crazy to become a big game hunter and go out for grizzlies, tigers and such as that. Starting out with a kitchen mouse, which he got with a broom, and then a cotton-tail, on which he used a 12-gauge pump-gun, he has already worked up to a woodchuck on which he used one of those gas-bombs, daringly flung by the Killer, in person, down its hole.

They told him to run because the chuck might come out the other hole and tear him limb from limb but I am told he just stood there with a reckless and defiant sneer and said something which I think is a literary quotation, about something fleeing from "its firm base as soon as I."

★ ★ ★

MAYBE Johnny Kieran or Franklin P. Adams will supply the rest of the quotation on their program some night.

I understand the Killer wasn't always so savage but that that dirty, rotten, filthy, evil monster, Adolf Hitler, changed him into a brute. Like Charlie Chaplin, he hates Hitler and, for that matter, all Nazis, so ferociously, that if he ever gets into battle he might forget the rules of civilized warfare and violate the Geneva convention and thus give Hitler an excuse to abrogate it and take reprisals on American prisoners.

Chaplin, you may remember, joined the Communists in demanding that somebody else open that second front and then, with magnificent nonchalance and utter contempt for danger, approached 3000 miles closer to it, last August.

That is, he came from California to New York and remained several weeks, right in the thick of it, as you might say.

★ ★ ★

I AM ONLY speculating, of course, but another reason why Killer Fadiman, the Hitler-hater who publicly strangled gallantry, and with his bare hands, mind you, has been able to restrain himself from physical violence against the Nazis, might be that in civil war there are no rules or conventions. Civil war is free style and anything goes so he could give free expression to that ferocious nature which wrung the neck of gallantry, single-handed.

There have been several letters offering me a place to hide from the Killer but they all came from girls, so I suspect a foul plot, and until further notice my address will be under the bed.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9—Never thought I'd live to see it happen, but Howard Hughes has finally consented to a loan-out deal for Jane Russell, and she goes to Hunt Stromberg to star in "Young Widow." Certainly no girl in movie history has had a more amazing career than Jane, whom Hughes discovered working as a receptionist in a doctor's office in Van Nuys. He put her into "The Outlaw," and while the picture wasn't anything to shout about, those posters of Russell were so hot that the San Francisco police shouted them down.

Ed Marin will direct—his first assignment following a serious abdominal operation.

FREDDY BARTHOLOMEW called the other day. He's heartsick about the automobile accident that so seriously injured Joe E. Brown's two daughters and Freddy's 85-year-old grandfather. "I hope no one forms an opinion until I have a chance to speak," he said. I'm sure Freddy's fans realize it was an unfortunate and heartbreaking accident. But the whole thing has cast such a damper over him that he couldn't even take heart in the fact that his new picture, "The Town Went Wild," went over big at the preview and PRC has lined up another comedy for him and Jimmy Lydon, "Out on a Limb." It will introduce Freddy for the first time as a full fledged leading man—a young lawyer just out of college.

CAN'T THINK of a more fascinating way to spend a rainy day than to have Signe Hasso drop in and "do" the whole office staff according to numerology. The charming Miss H. had originally stopped by to say that she was hurt over our hint that C. B. DeMille hadn't done right by her in "Dr. Wassell." "He has always been so very encouraging," she said, "so good to me when I was blue and discouraged over my career. I think he is a fine man and a fine director." It was after that was all settled that we got off in this numerology thing—and the girl is terrific. Says she does it just for fun. And before the wolves get excited she doesn't have to hold your hand to work out your "number!"

We have the red-head's word for it that there is no reconciliation in the offing; the Star's Parade Magazine poll puts June Alyson at the top as the outstanding femme personality of the year; New York and Chicago are due for their first glimpse of Susan Peters when she finishes "Woman's Army." Born in Washington State, Susie has never been east of Palm Springs, Cal.; nobody would be surprised if Mona Maris and Texas oil man Louis T. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—At the time this stirring symphony in prose was being composed—a little quieter with them muted violins, professor!—a number of the election contests were still in doubt.

Among those whose political fate had not yet been established was a certain Congressman. I am not going to reveal his identity because he is a modest man, reticent about his good works, and given to hiding his light under a bustle—I mean bushel.

But I hope and trust an enlightened electorate has had the gratitude to send him back to us because he is a true public servant. He is always at the service of his constituents. Whether they want a new bridge over the Lower Boopedoop river or a bag of grass seed, he tries to get it for them.

Recently, however, he rose to the heights of selfless devotion. He saved a lady's fighting fish!

★ ★ ★

I DID NOT get this epic of fish-saving from the Congressman but from the grateful lady in person. She is Mrs. Jane Duboulay, wife of Group Captain Guy Duboulay, of the R. A. F.

Mrs. Duboulay, who is an American, was having luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Blake, of the White House Blakes, and I was eating on the cuff with them, too. Mrs. Duboulay said she had some shopping to do on her way home.

"I must buy two cents' worth of hamburger," she said.

"Good hamburger," said Mrs. Blake, "is hard to get how much worth did you say?"

"Two cents' worth," replied Mrs. Duboulay. "I want to put it in the brandy sniffers."

"Oh, of course," agreed Mrs. Blake. "How stupid of me! All the best people are putting hamburger in their brandy these days!"

"Nothing of the sort," snapped Mrs. Duboulay. "I keep my fighting fish in the brandy sniffers. They love hamburger.

"These fish," continued Mrs. Duboulay, as if delivering a lecture before the Piscatorial Society of Upper Marlboro, "are known as Beta. They cost $4.50 each, so they are quite valuable. But they must be kept in individual jars, otherwise they will fight to the death and you use up a lot of Beta.

"They are very truculent. If they even see each other through the sniffers they bare their teeth in hatred and swell up. They are just like Republicans and Democrats."

"Republicans, maybe," amended Mr. Blake. "Never Democrats."

"Well, anyway," continued Mrs. Duboulay, "one of them got sick recently. I was unable to find a good fish doctor, so do you know what I did? I called my Congressman!

"I told him my problem and he said he would consult experts. Finally he called back and said:

"'Put epsom salts and aspirin in the water. Then take out the ailing fish and paint him with mercurochrome.'

"I did as prescribed," added Mrs. Duboulay, "and today the fish is as good as new."

★ ★ ★

THERE WAS utter silence at our table for a moment, then Mrs. Blake demanded:

"Do you mean you had the nerve to call a Congressman for that?"

"Certainly," said Mrs. Duboulay. "I guess I know what a Congressman is for!"

★ ★ ★

MR. BLAKE murmured something about "we all live and learn."

"I must remember that mercurochrome treatment," he continued. "If it had been employed in time it might have saved another life—although this is doubtful.

"The other day three of Washington's most distinguished journalists, Merriman Smith, Fred Pasley and Thomas Reynolds, called upon me at the White House and said they wished to present me with a token of their esteem.

"They handed me a very dead flounder—with an even deader cigar butt in its mouth!"

★ ★ ★

I CALLED Mr. Pasley and asked where they got the flounder, and why they presented it to Mr. Blake.

"That is the most amazing thing," he said. "This flounder came up to us at a Roosevelt rally and asked us for a match. We told him we thought Kentucky would go for Dewey and he keeled over and died.

"We took him to Mr. Blake because it seemed obvious he was a good Democrat."

★ ★ ★

AND THAT is positively all I could learn about the flounder.

★ ★ ★

JESSE JONES is the possessor of millions—I mean his own dough, not the government's—yet he is inclined to be frugal.

He was at a diplomatic affair recently and had just about finished a highball when he was handed another. The flunkey tried to take away the first drink—of which only about a quarter of an inch remained—but the venerable cabinet minister refused to give it up.

"I just can't make myself do it," he explained to young Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, 2d, niece-in-law of the general and daughter of Sen. Barkley. "You see—I was raised skimpy!"

NO NEED EXISTING for him to hover over a blackboard showing progress of his contest for Congress, U. S. Rep. James M. "Jim" Curley relaxed in front of the goings-on at the Plymouth, where John P. Yes, Congressman Curley liked the play.

"WHEN THAT POOR chap, the Yale man and 'foreigner' from New York, intruded his disturbing presence on the assembled Brahmins of Beacon st., I was reminded of one thing," the Congressman commented. "I was reminded of Curley going to Beacon Hill as Governor . . . The Yale man had my sympathy."

★ ★ ★

ONE IRONIC FEATURE of the casting of "The Late George Apley" is the resemblance of Leo G. Carroll, who plays George Apley, to a certain Bostonian who has twitted his "Mayflower" G. O. AMONG THE ELISIONS in the play-version of "The Late George Apley" is the one in which the younger Apley (of the book) rises to a defense of the old Howard "Atheneum," which —of course—is Boston's Mecca of Burlesque now known as the Old Howard Theater . . . Happy Felton performed a slick Election Night job of disposing of hecklers who make a human fringe around the Rhumba Casino's balcony bar . . . Entertainers call this noisy section of the room "The Shelf," and handling the upstairs customers from the floor is something of a chore . . . But the spirit is always in good fun . . . Loveliness for All

LOOKS MAY BE deceiving . . . and the charming, youthful facial appearance of Mildred Black is living proof. Under her unique and remarkable cover-mark make-up there is a hideous, flaming, purple-red birthmark . . . completely obliterated from view. Mildred has no complex about her looks . . . for with this astounding cosmetic miracle she has achieved complexion loveliness like all girls happy and in love with life.

MILDRED BLACK walked into my office the other day. She was rather tall . . . dark hair . . . sharp eyes . . . an excellent conversationalist . . and, pretty too. She bubbled over with enthusiasm . . . her eyes danced . . . she was as happy as the proverbial lark . . . and just as happy as any young girl in love with life.

"Remember me?" she smiled. Then, it all came back. Here was the girl with a hideous, flaming, purple-red birthmark from chin to forehead . . . but you couldn't see it, you couldn't believe it was there. Here was the girl whose personality came pretty nearly being dwarfed as a child . . . until she heard of a unique, miraculous cover-mark preparation . . . and through its agency of mercy assumed a new lease on life and made a useful adjustment.

Yes, that was the remarkable demonstration she staged for me 10 months ago. It all came back . . . how she opened her kit, wiped away the make-up and then displaying the horrifying facial disfigurement which made me uncomfortable . . . although she was so "normal" about it. She had overcome any feeling of inferiority attached to the birthmark . . . for now with a few whisks of this amazing cream . . . positively the miracle of all time . . . the facial deforming pigmentation was completly obliterated . . . not permanently, but while the cream remained on the face. And, she emerged a charming complexion-lovely young woman.

HELPFUL TO A CHILD

Because "necessity is the mother of Invention" . . . the creator of this cover-mark preparation, whose own too disfiguring birthmark forced her to experiment with creams and lotions until she finally compounded this one . . . was not only able to revolutionize her own life . . . but has been instrumental in changing the lives of thousands of men, women and children similarly afflicted

It will cover birthmarks, liver-spots, all types of facial discoloration, X-ray burns and varicose veins so noticeable through hose and in a bathing suit. It would be such a boon to a child . . . a protective insurance against the cruelty of other children and an inspiration for overcoming an inferiority complex.

For the name of this remarkable cover-mark preparation, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

GLISTENING BLACK is drama at its best in short dinner dresses. Cape sleeves, a line-softening tunic and hem-slit skirt . . . are fashion features which CBS Actress Lurene Tuttle has co-ordinated to express this season's "dress-up" mood. Worn with long black gloves and a small turban . . . this costume emphasizes the adaptability of black to every after-dark occasion. Sparkling jewels are a stunning accessory.—R. M.

Love Only Children?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: My husband and I have been married a year and are expecting a baby in a couple of months. We have friends who have been married longer and have children. The men don't seem very happy. In fact, they seem to idolize their children but just put up with the wives.

Is this a stage, marriage must go through with? I wouldn't like to think my husband is putting up with me just because of the baby. We've been very happy so far, although we've had tough times trying to make ends meet, buying bonds, etc.

Is it because a young mother, with no maid, must devote most of her time to the baby and isn't able to go out as much as before? Please help me. I love my husband very much and wouldn't ever want him to say the things about me that other men are saying about their wives.

(MRS.) R. H. F.

Of course, such marriages as you've noticed, where husbands are interested only in the children are to be seen far too often. On the other hand, the world has its quota of self-sacrificing married men. Some are devoted to invalid wives, others give in to demanding wives.

Don't entertain morbid notions that your husband is putting up with you just because you're expecting a baby; that's not good for your morale or the baby's either Take your marriage obligations sensibly. Learn to be a companion to your husband, don't nag, look your best.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

DON'T DO THIS! Grasp the door knob when opening or closing a door. Fingerprints on doors and woodwork spoil the appearance of the home.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Wednesday — Yesterday afternoon was just as quiet as I had anticipated it would be. My husband took some of our guests to his cottage for tea, and our neighbors began to come in at 7:30 for a buffet supper at the big house. By 9 o'clock the dining room was cleared, and the President started the real business of watching the vote and tabulating it as it came in.

When this begins I always think of Louis Howe, who really enjoyed sitting in his shirtsleeves and calculating percentages. I can't say that it means a great deal to me. Nor does it to most of our guests, who wander into the big room, sit around and talk, listen to the radio and get reports from the dining room, where the people who really are doing the tabulating are hard at work.

Later in the evening, when the returns began to seem to have some meaning, the newspaper people and photographers came up from Poughkeepsie, and even the radio men were along.

* * *

MORE PEOPLE than ever came down from Hyde Park with flares and a band, led by Moses Smith and Elmer Van Wagner, who is the Democratic supervisor in our district. They always report apologetically that "the President has carried his own district by a few votes, but lost the town of Hyde Park."

"Nevertheless," they add, "in spite of the fact that they vote against him, all his neighbors love him." This little speech always amuses me, for it seems to me that they must vote as a tradition, but hope to be beaten —which doesn't make any real sense.

Until a very late, or rather a very early hour, I heard nothing definite from Helen Gahagen Douglas, candidate for Congress in a California district, in whom we are much interested.

* * *

THERE WAS a good deal of excitement all through the evening among many people about us, but I can't say that I felt half as much excited as I will feel the day that I hear the war is over in Europe.

That news will mean that the war in the Pacific will be nearer an end; and when I hear that the war in the Pacific is over, I shall feel a sense of far greater relief than any election returns could possibly bring me.

Clothes as Second-Fiddle

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WE ARE a nation of clothes-conscious women, and that's one reason why we are the best dressed mass of women in the world, but this consciousness has its dangers too. I see a good many ladies who show by every look of their eyes and every gesture that they are obsessed with their clothes. They are not attractive.

Anything you wear that is so grand you can't forget it once you have it on your backs is a bad thing to wear. The girl is always more important than what she wears, or she should be, and to let a dress high-hat you into grovveling to it is a shame.

You'll wear your clothes a lot better if you keep them in their place as second-fiddle to you. Forget what you have on and enjoy yourselves.

Barbecue Chops

By MARTHA LEE

FOR CLEAR, cool autumn days when appetites soar and meals must be full of zest, a barbecue is just the thing. Here we have a simple method of imparting the spicy savor of a barbecue to pork chops or steaks. It's an exciting way to "remodel" an old favorite, for variety's sake.

MENU

Barbecued Pork Chops
Boiled Rice Parsley
Carrots Cabbage Salad
Crisp Rolls Apple Jelly
Pumpkin Custard with Cream
Coffee

Pork chops, don't forget, provide an abundance of food energy that "stays by you." They also furnish considerable high-quality protein, and other food essentials, particularly thiamine, or vitamin B.

The cooking method used for barbecued pork chops is that of braising, a moist heat method. This is recommended for pork chops and steaks because of the fact that pork should always be cooked until it is well done clear through. The best way to achieve this with small cuts, without drying out the meat too much, is by slow cooking in a covered pan. Liquid in the pan should simmer, never boil.

BARBECUED PORK CHOPS

8 rib pork chops, or 4 shoulder steaks 2 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. prepared mustard
½ cup chopped onion
½ tsp. cloves 1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper ½ cup catsup
2 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 cup juice from peach, apple, bread and butter or sweet pickles

Brown chops or steaks slowly. Pour off excess fat. Add flour to the mustard to make a paste. Add remaining ingredients. Blend well and pour over meat. Cover and simmer slowly for 1½ hours. Makes 8 servings.

Examples of other braised pork dishes are baked stuffed pork chops, braised pork steak with onions, pork chops and apples en casserole, and pork chops with scalloped potatoes. Braising may be done either on top of the range or in the oven; it is still the same method so long as the meat is first browned in a fat, then cooked slowly in a covered pan. The final result should be thoroughly-cooked chops that are richly browned on the outside, tender and moist within.

PUMPKIN CUSTARD

2 cups milk
1 tsp. butter or margarine
3 eggs, beaten
½ cup light brown sugar
¾ tsp. salt ¾ tsp. cinnamon
1 cup pumpkin, strained

Scald milk, add butter, eggs, sugar, salt, cinnamon and pumpkin. Pour into baking dish or individual molds and set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 40 minutes or until blade of a knife inserted in center does not adhere. Serve warm or chilled with cream.

CRISP ROLLS

½ cup scalded milk
½ cup boiling water
1 tsp. salt 1 tsp. sugar
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ yeast cake dissolved in ¼ cup lukewarm water
3 cups flour, or enough to knead

Put milk, water, salt, butter and sugar into mixing bowl, mix well. Add yeast. Then add flour until it is stiff enough to knead. Cover and let it rise to double its bulk, shape into balls, put into buttered pan and cover. Let it rise in a warm place again to double its bulk. With the floured handle of a wooden spoon press the balls through the center almost cutting in half. Brush one-half with butter, fold other half over and press together like a pocketbook. Let rise again and bake in a hot oven (400 deg. F.) for 15 minutes. Brush the tops with butter after baking. Makes about two dozen rolls.

Vincent List Ready

THE CAT WILL BE OUT of the bag next Tuesday. That is the date of the annual fall luncheon of the Vincent Club when everybody learns just which debutantes have been chosen for membership in this exclusive organization.

E. Batchelder

Since the new deb members comprise the cast of the Vincent's annual spring musical it is quite natural to expect that they will be a pretty and talented group, and older members who have either been in the shows of former years or helped to produce them are always curious to see what the new gals look like.

As no one except the board which has been busy checking credentials knows which girls are really IN until the fall meeting there is always great interest in the occasion and many reservations have already been made Among them are Eleanor Batchelder, Elinor Bliss, Catherine Curtis, Constance Dexter, Alice Doolittle, Elizabeth Harding, Genevra Hobbs, Marian L. Minot, Hope Ellen Noyes, Anne d'Esterre Pratt, Betsey Rimmer, Patricia Spencer, Agnes Waller, Jane Wigglesworth, Sylvia Winsor and Augusta Wolcott.

The luncheon will be at the Junior League with the Vincent's popular president, Julia Barbour, presiding. Also attending will be Mrs. George Bemis, Mrs. William C. Cox, Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. John G. Flint, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Lawrence Morgan, Mrs. Gelston King and Mrs. James P. Parker, Jr.

MRS. PHILIP JOHNSON of Lexington, who is putting her fashion talents to excellent use in her attractive new shop on Newbury st., entertained at luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton yesterday in honor of Princess Oblensky of New York.

Both the hostess and her guest, who will stage a fashion show at the opening, Nov. 14, were in sophisticated black with white camellias. Other guests were Mrs. Mason Whiting, whose black ensemble was brightened with aqua striped silk; Mrs. Dana Greeley, Mrs. Harrison Royce, attractive in turquoise tweeds, Mrs. J. Clifford Ross, Mrs. Ruth Kilpatrick of New York, whose slim black dress was topped with a scarlet tweed jacket; Mrs. Marjorie Eustis in soft honey tweed, Mrs. Frank Bremer and Mrs. Gardner Sutton.

ROUND TOWN: Post deb Peggy Crocker of Chestnut Hill lunching at the Ritz with her future mother-in-law, Mrs. John W. Myers of Westwood. Also in the party were Mrs. Myers' sister, Mrs. Paul Reed, and the latter's daughter, Mrs. J. Carter Inches. Peggy, fiancee of Lt. John Myers, Jr., USNR, wore modish green and gold Scotch plaid suit and cap.

The war has caused quite a bit of moving among the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Lowell of Mt. Vernon st. Frances Lowell Hunsaker has gone to Annapolis with her Navy husband, and Beatrice Lowell Magruder has just returned from Maryland. While her husband is away, she will spend the winter with the Lowells.

Mrs. Palfrey Perkins and Mrs Andrew Winslow, Jr., among the attractive Chestnut st. residents soliciting their neighbors for the Red Feather campaign.

Mrs. W. Prescott Rogers of Fall River, chairman of the ticket takers committee of the Boston Morning Musicales, held a coffee party and committee meeting at the Beacon st. home of her mother, Mrs. Sydney Harwood, yesterday. Guests included Mrs. Oscar Simmons, Mrs. Frank C. Nichols, Mrs. Leopold Peavy and Mrs. William M. Breed.

Hitler Mum on Putsch Day; Reported 'Mentally Ill'

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Berlin broadcasts indicated today that for the first time the greatest of Nazi party holidays would pass without a speech from Hitler.

Last night was the eve of the annual celebration of the 1923 Munich Beer Hall Putsch, and it has been the custom since Hitler's rise to power for high-ranking party members to meet in Munich with him and renew their pledges of faith in the Fuehrer.

But the German radio announced that because of the Reich's total mobilization the celebration would take place at a later date not specified.

Earlier, neutral correspondents in Berlin cabled they had been informed the party expected Hitler to speak. When he had not gone on the air by 8 p. m. a powerful ghost voice broke into the German radio program with this demand:

"Why doesn't Hitler speak? Why does the Fuehrer keep silent? What is the matter with Hitler?"

Hitler has made no appearance before a microphone since July 21, when a voice purporting to be his broadcast an assurance to the German people that he was safe after the bomb attempt on his life.

LONDON, Nov. 9 (INS)—Adolf Hitler has been ill for several weeks, suffering from nervous and mental disturbances due to the after effects of the July 20 attempt on his life, the London News Chronicle reported

W. Roxbury Flier Gets Air Medal

Lt. Com. Frederick T. Moore, Jr., USNR, of Schrimer rd., West Roxbury, commanding officer of the fighter and torpedo-bomber pilots of Air Group 35, based abroad a Sangamon class escort carrier in the Pacific, has been decorated with the Air Medal by Adm. Nimitz, the Navy announced today. Seventeen of Moore's pilots were similarly honored.

They won their awards mainly for achievements in the Marianas campaign in June and July, when Saipan, Tinian and Guam were captured.

Some of the awards cover exploits dating to Air Group 35's first action in the Gilbert Islands last November.

Capital Plans Welcome to F. D.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—The capital dusted off the welcome mat for its first citizen today.

With only 24 hours' notice, local leaders buzzed around on details of a homecoming celebration for President Roosevelt.

His train arrives at 8:30 a. m. Friday from Hyde Park, N. Y. This announcement by the White House staff is a rarity, considering that the Chief Executive's movements are guarded for security reasons.

This homecoming for the "champ" is becoming a tradition.

The Washington Post touched off the first homecoming with an editorial of suggestion in 1936 and the response was instantaneous. Repeated in 1940, the Post once more said in today's editions:

"Let's do it again."

Guild's Musical Opens Monday

Peter Hamilton, most recently seen as the featured dancer in "New Moon," and in last season's "Jackpot," is the principal male dancer in The Theater Guild's all-American musical, "Sing Out, Sweet Land!" now in rehearsal.

Leon Leonidoff is staging the production. Elie Siegmeister is arranging the music and directing the orchestra and chorus of "Sing Out, Sweet Land!" Dance directors are Charles Weidman and Doris Humphrey. The author, Walter Kerr, is directing the dialogue. Settings and costumes are by Albert Johnson and Lucinda Ballard, respectively.

Lawrence Langner and Theresa Helburn, co-administrative directors of The Theater Guild, are personally supervising the production, which opens Monday evening at the Colonial Theater.

Cooled Off!

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (INS)— The re-election of President Roosevelt had happy domestic repercussions in Chicago today.

When Mrs. Edith W. Olson, 28, sued for divorce recently, charging Arthur, 31, with cruelty, Judge Michael Feinberg put the case over until Dec. 20 as a "cooling off" period.

The result of the delay was told Judge Feinberg by Olson's lawyer, Irving Eisenman:

"Your idea worked, your honor. Olson went to visit his wife and they listened to the election returns. They were so happy when President Roosevelt won that Mrs. Olson has decided to drop her divorce suit."

TONIGHT'S OPENING

"Laffing Room Only," Olsen and Johnson's streamlined carnival of buffoonery, bombast and beauties, opens tonight at the Shubert Theater with your favorite footlight loons in starring spots. Because of the unprecedented demand for tickets, the local engagement has been extended through Saturday, Dec. 9. Seats for the final week, beginning Dec. 4, are now on sale at the boxoffice.

Sea Epic at Beacon; New Uptown Bill

"Action in the North Atlantic" and "They Made Me a Criminal" are opening a four-day run on the Beacon screen today . . . Uptown's current bill includes "A Wing and a Prayer," the thrilling story of an unidentified aircraft carrier with Don Ameche and Dana Andrews, and "Atlantic City," starring Jerry Colonna and Constance Moore.

Returns to Howard

The Old Howard raises the curtain tomorrow at midnight on a new traveling burlesque review starring startling Scarlett Kelly, assisted by Joy Davis and comics Bobby Vail, John Barry and Johnny Cook.

CASE HISTORY of an over-38 inductee might be the sub-title of the latest Edward G. Robinson starrer, "Mr. Winkle Goes to War," which is due on the Trans-Lux screen next Wednesday.

Diana Lynn at Met Two Days

Starting as the off-screen accompanist for Susanna Foster and other cinema canaries, 18-year-old Diana Lynn debuted in pictures as Ginger Rogers "brat" sister in "The Major and the Minor" and in two years has become an established comedy personality.

The delightful young star, an unusually fine pianist, will be the city's guest tomorrow and Saturday. She is to make a series of personal appearances on the Metropolitan Theater stage in conjunction with the showing of her latest starring picture, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," opening today. Diana will make two appearances on both days, at 2:25 and 8:25 p. m.

Since "The Major and the Minor," Diana has been seen with Betty Hutton in "Miracle of Morgan's Creek" and "Henry Aldrich Gets Glamour."

JVA Workshops Busy on Toys

The winter season is not going to stop Junior Victory Army members in Montreal, Province of Quebec, from carrying on an active and worthwhile program.

They have thought up a scheme that might well be copied by other corps leaders who feel that snow and cold weather throw a damper on these young people's activities.

They're setting up an indoor workshop.

"In October we brought up the idea of starting a JVA home workshop where we can build small pieces of furniture and toys to sell," reports Philip Gollob, 4270 Henri Julian st., Montreal, the corps organizer, "and we're going to buy war stamps with the proceeds of what we make.

"We're eager to get hold of more plans and patterns of things to make," he continued, hoping that other JVA's would get in touch with him and swap ideas. Anyone with a good pattern or suggestion for making toys can write him at the above address.

A number of groups around Boston have already set up cellar workshops in some conveniently located house and are hard at work renovating old toys to be used for Christmas gifts. There won't be as many toys on the commercial market this year as there have been in others, and these renovated carts and dolls and other toys, patched up here and there with a new wheel or board, or a new dress or apron, or touched up with a bright daub of paint, are going to bring the joy of Christmas to countless children.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army headquarters, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Friday's Daily Record.

Hunt Thief Who Took Wedding Finery

Boston police today sought a stone-hearted thief who broke into a parked car in Arlington st., Back Bay, and fled with two bridesmaids' dresses and hats which Miss Lucie M. Dubrule of Haverhill st., Lawrence, had gathered for her wedding Nov. 19 to Edward Connolly of Salem st., Lawrence.

The thief left the bride's newly-bought wedding gown. Miss Dubrule discovered her loss when she returned to her car from a shopping tour.

Cain and Cowley Will Lead Drive by Bruins

By JACK CONWAY

BILL COWLEY and Herb Cain will once more lead the attack for the Bruins when Art Ross' club opens its home season with the Chicago Blackhawks as opponents at the Garden on next Tuesday night. Cowley and Cain gave the Bruins a win over the Blackhawks in Chicago and they would like to repeat their feat at the local rink.

The game will give Boston and New England hockey fans an opportunity to get their first glimpse of some of the youngsters Art Ross is introducing to big league hockey. Ross has been a wizard in developing new talent, and it is expected that several of his 1944 hockey "finds" will also come through in grand style.

Bill Cowley

Hockey is headed for one of its biggest seasons. The large crowds at the games played to date indicate that the public is very much hockey minded. The fact top football offerings are not as plentiful as they were in former years has enabled hockey to get more than usual attention at this time of the year.

It is expected that a banner crowd will turn out to witness the clash between the Bruins and Blackhawks on next Tuesday night.

Manager Art Ross and Lt. Weston W. Adams will give the entire receipts of Tuesday night's opening game to the Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser. President Walter A. Brown and General Manager Tom Kanaly of the Garden agreed to give the use of the North Station sports palace for the game without any rental charge.

THERE WILL be a large delegation of fans from the Charlestown Navy Yard at Mechanics Building tomorrow night to root for Howard Thompson, Saugus heavyweight, who will clash with Freddy Schott, 18-year-old Paterson, N. J., ring star. Thompson is employed at the Charlestown Navy Yard, and his admirers are confident he will halt Schott's winning streak.

Thompson saw Schott win from Earl Laufman at Mechanics Building recently. He realizes he must be at his best if he is to beat the Paterson puncher.

Schott has won 19 bouts by kayos since turning pro. He is being schooled in boxing by Lee Savold, veteran heavyweight. If Schott can win from Thompson, he will be prepared to meet any other first class heavyweight selected by Matchmaker Eddie Mack.

Cowgirls Will Race

LOU SMITH will have his fun, and today at Rockingham Park he will stage a race for cowgirls appearing in the rodeo. They will ride the ponies they have in the rodeo. There will be a purse of $600 and it is expected that the race will furnish keen competition as well as color.

Polly Mills, who won this event last fall, was to ride again today. This time Polly will ride under her maiden name of Polly Drayer. The other riders have shown first class ability in the rodeo and they promise to furnish Polly with plenty of competition.

Random Shots at Target

THE OLD TIME jockeys gave a fine exhibition of riding at Rockingham Park . . . The midweek mutuel handle pushed its way above the $500,000 mark . . . There are only nine more racing days at Lou Smith's track . . . The horsemen will then turn their attention to Gulfstream in Florida which opens on Dec. 1.

Texas A. & M. Gained 2118 Yards; in Cellar

DALLAS, Nov. 9 (AP)—Texas A. and M., which footballs with Southern Methodist here Saturday, has gained 2,118 yards running and passing this season. That's almost 600 yards more than any other team in the Conference. And is this yard-gulping Texas Aggie team leading the league?

It is not.

Saturday's game determines which club will stay in the cellar.

Joyce's Ambition To Open Food Market

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9 (AP)—Willie Joyce, who meets Ike Williams in a feature boxing bout here on Monday, may open a food market in Los Angeles after Jan. 1. He says it is his biggest ambition.

PT Boaters May Hit Breaker at Harvard

By HUCK FINNEGAN

The wandering minstrel notes several changes in Harvard's practice as the "informals" resume work for Saturday's game with the PT boat behemoths from Melville.

Before the October hiatus (BC Oct. 7 was their last game) chief specialists Tuckey and Piskol, Lamar aides, coached in shorts. Now the frost is on the "punkin" and they're wearing sheepskin windbreakers.

Too, November days are short, and the white ball has made its appearance on wind-swept Soldiers Field. And familiar faces like those of Sweeney, Jenkins, Schulz, Coulson, Brown, Crane, Garfield, Regan are missing. In their stead are former Dartmouths Morter, Fritts and Lamoreaux, plus Allen, Hayman, Harwood, Zimmerman, Hodge, Vicario and O'Leary.

Harvard plans to field the following eleven against the PT's: Morter, le; Davis, lt; Mroz, lg; Vicario, c; Allen, rg; Pierce, rt; Perkins, re; Trumbull, qb; Chapple, lhb; Fritts, rhb; Cowen, fb.

Of these, Morter, Vicario, Allen, Chapple and Fritts will be starting their first game. They're not novices, however. Vicario was with the Harvard '43 squad; Allen is a 193-pounder who played for undefeated Melrose High last year; Chapple, a .425 hitter and second baseman, has ousted Navin from the lhb spot. Chapple, a fine running back, was handicapped in the early campaign by a broken finger. He couldn't pass. Now, after the five weeks' interlude, he's ready to throw strikes as he made double plays for Floyd Stahl. Fritts, wounded in the Dartmouth-Brown game, has been rehabilitated.

So this team of Harvard's won't exactly be serving its novitiate. Its big losses are Sweeney at tackle, Jenkins and Schultz at wingback. But Harvard has moved impregnable Davis from guard to tackle to stop Zoeller's off tackle slants, and its only question mark is in the middle of the line.

How does Harvard feel about the David-Goliath meeting?

"I took the 'kids' to the BC-PT game," said Coach Lamar. "They know the odds against them, but they're willing to go through, if only to help the Navy's morale. But we're conceding the PT's nothing. In fact, I had my 'kids' blocking 'points after touchdowns' this afternoon. That proves the PT's will have to fight for every point. (Ed. note: Harvard is more confident than that.)

Phone call to Melville, R. I.

Said Lt. Charlies Sharp: "Our starting lineup will be the same except for Cooper at rhb. He's been 'under way' (on the water) all week, and hasn't been able to practice. If he doesn't start, Red McClain (player-coach) will."

Did Lt. Sharp expect another 45-0 romp like PT's rout of BC. "By no means," he replied, "we got all the breaks against BC. Besides, Harvard is more our size. We'll settle for three points in our favor right now. And," concluded Lt. Sharp, "if those three points depend on me, I'll get them. I'll be in uniform this week." (Sharp was a sharp-shooter for Texas U. in '34-'36.)

"Torby Macdonald will play for the PT's, but will not start. His ankle's bothering him . . . PT will start Moore and Berger, ends; Vohs and Thom (all-Americas), tackles; Shew and Smith, co-captains, guards; Schmidt, qb; Cooper or McClain and Zoeller, halfbacks; Secrest, fb . . . Th PT base is all excited over the game and the band has increased from 25 to 37 pieces in a week. Everybody's with a winner . . . "We're not at all confident," said Lt. Sharp, but the First Naval District gobs belie his statement . . . They're wagering all the dough they won last week . . . The PT's won't leave Melville until 8:30 a. m. Saturday . . . Bill Stedman, who played under Harlow at Harvard, will replace Schmidt as blocking back for Melville. Harvard grad Jon England is the PT manager. England captained Harvard's lacrosse team in '42.

Bookies Offer 3 to 1 Army Beats Irish

The Broadway books have some surprises for us in the "early morning line" on this week's football games. For example, they are not quoting odds on the Navy-Cornell game. As one of them said, "What's the use of quoting even 10 to 1 on Navy? Nobody wants Cornell at any price and if we can't get action, we don't eat. So we're giving them Cornell and 20 points at even money."

That is to say, the books will give even money that Navy beats Cornell by at least 20 points. That's a better bet than a straight 10 to 1 because Navy might not bear down too hard after scoring once or twice. Nevertheless, we wouldn't take Cornell even with 30 points.

By the way, the burglars also will give you Pitt and 30 points against Ohio State. Here again we wouldn't touch Pitt if we got 40 points.

They also give you CCNY and 20 points against Bucknell.

That comes under the head of highway robbery because CCNY hasn't scored a point against anybody all year and you could find a hundred high school teams that could take them with ease. CCNY is high in the class room but low on the gridiron.

When did you ever see 3 to 1 quoted against a Notre Dame

Brooklyn Final B. C. Tuneup for H. C. Test

Seeking to retain their superiority over New York elevens, the Boston College Eagles will meet the Brooklyn College team on next Sunday afternoon at Fenway Park. B. C.'s three victories to date all have been scored against teams from the Empire State, C. C. N. Y., N. Y. U., and Syracuse following in that order. The game will mark the final B. C. tilt before the Holy Cross battle, the Heightsmen having an open date on Nov. 18th.

The Flatbush crew have a two and two record. They dropped two to Connecticut and defeated C. C. N. Y. twice by the same 37-0 score. The second C. C. N. Y. game was played on Tuesday last, thus giving the boys from Brooklyn a scant four days in which to prepare for Sunday's game.

Brooklyn will unveil some good football prospects in Abe "Boomie" Bressler, who raced 64 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage against C. C. N. Y. last Tuesday, End Long John Curran, who stands 6 feet 3 inches, and Stan Closman, a shifty halfback. The invaders will be in good physical condition for the tilt as no serious injuries were sustained against C. C. N. Y.

The Eagles will be facing a team which uses the T formation exclusively for the first time this year. Syracuse used a few T plays but adhered for the most part to Minnesota's style of play.

The Navy PT game was the first this season in which the Heightsmen did not lose a key player. End Paul Murphy suffered a painful rib bruise but X-rays showed that he will be able to play.

Since the Harvard opener, right end, Callahan, left guard, Sammartino, left tackle, Lawler, and quarterback Cronin, all starters against the Crimson, have been lost to the team for the season, although there is a slight possibility that Sammartino, declared inegible, may return. In addition to these, right guard, Baleyko and fullback Casey have sustained minor injuries and have seen limited service in recent games.

Henry Michaelowics and Tom Eden showed up well in the end posts against the PT team. With Bowdring and Murphy they will give BC four strong wingmen.

Dedham Determined To Lick Weymouth

By MIKE GILLOOLY

There are seven kids at Dedham High school with lengthy memories—seven kids on the football squad who just can't forget how they had gone into the Weymouth game last season with an undefeated, untied and unscored upon record, only to come out as just an also ran on the wrong end of an 8-6 count.

They're going into the Weymouth game Saturday with an identical record but this time they're convinced that they'll come out with a record of seven straight triumphs after handing Weymouth another blanking.

This group of Dedham's determined gridders will include Center Carl Robinson, 195 pounds; Tackles Russ Birchall and Frank Hickey; End Ed Cluff and Backs Bob Ray, 190 pounds; John Flanagan and Mike Stivaletta. They had their dream bubbles shattered last fall but they're not going to let it happen again after they've romped through Malden Catholic (13-0); St. Mary's of Waltham (46-0); Needham (14-0); North Quincy (20-0); Cambridge Latin (13-0), and Hyde Park (26-0).

JACK HEAPHY CONFIDENT

Filling out the starting lineup will be End Jerry O'Neill; guards Dick McCarthy and John Busser and either Gene Smith or Jim Hazard at quarterback, replacing "GI" Irving Negrini, now in the U. S. Army, stationed in Florida. Negrini started against Weymouth last year, but Uncle Sam called him before he could get revenge with his mates on this South Shore rival.

"If we had Negrini back at quarterback, I wouldn't be worrying about our stumbling block, Weymouth, as I am right now," said Coach Jack Heaphy. "Weymouth has long been a good November team and I wouldn't be surprised if that was the case this year. But if we should lose, you can bet it will be a fighting Dedham team that will be on the field."

Meet Director Tom Hines would like to make a correction in his release date on the seventh annual Mass. State Cross Country Championship . . . it will be held Saturday morning at 10:30, Nov. 18, at Franklin Park, sponsored by Boston University . . . entries will close with Mr. Hines at the Brookline High School next Wednesday.

Coach Dave Lucey of Saugus High School, prepping his undefeated outfit for the invasion by Swampscott Saturday, has a beef to make to the Schoolboy Writers' Ass'n . . . and it's a legitmate one . . . as things now stand, Saugus can be tied for the Class B championship by Chelsea if both win their remaining games . . . and the Sachems have beaten Chelsea . . . it just doesn't add up . . . Coach Lucey offers a solution . . . he feels that if a team schedules three Class A teams, or more, it should automatically move into the upper bracket.

Faculty Manager Charlie Doherty of Revere High School has started to line up his 1945 football schedule . . . and he still has five open dates he'd like to fill, Sept. 15, Sept. 23, Oct. 14, Oct. 21 and Oct. 28 . . . faculty managers or coaches interested may write to Mr. Doherty at the high school.

It never rains but it pours . . . with the biggest week-end in football coming up for the schoolboys, the traditional rivalries between Andover and Exeter and St. Mark's and Groton will be forcing their ways into the headlines . . . The academies will be meeting for the 65th time in a series that dates back to 1877 when they clash Saturday at Andover . . . St. Mark's and Groton will mark the 56th renewal of their series at Groton.

Exeter and Andover can't help bring back memories of other days to the older grid fans . . . times when Walter Phillips, referee, announced the following day that the score should have been Exeter, 33-11, after it had been widely accredited at 29-11 . . . Tad and Howard Jones leading Exeter through an undefeated season . . . Eddie Casey and Fido Kempton . . . later, Dolph Cheek and Joe McGlone . . . Johnny Braaca blocking a kick . . . Bill Clark starring in the backfield for Exeter . . . Gene Tunney a spectator in 1930 . . . more recently, Joe Kane of Pennsylvania and Johnnie Kirmil.

Series Movies For Servicemen

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—Movies of the 1944 World Series, 2400 feet of film highlights of the all-St. Louis classic, will be ready for shipment this week to service men the world over.

Lew Fonseca, American League movie director, said 130 of the 240 prints to be made, will be sent to war theaters around the globe. The remaining 110 copies will be distributed to hospitals and service bases in this country.

Introducing the 1944 series movie is Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. Fonseca said some five million service men had viewed the 1943 series film.

Two New Players Join Brooklyn Tigers

BROOKLYN, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Brooklyn Tigers of the National Football League have landed two players and lost a pair but still reside in the basement.

Halfback Cecil Johnson left for his Paris, Tex., draft board to report for Army induction and halfback Frank Sachse, who has been injured most of the season, hobbled off to his Texas home. The newcomers are Bob Trocolor, who was fired by the Tigers a week ago, and Steve Marko, halfback formerly with Philadelphia and the Card-Pitts.

Georges Suarez, Paris Journalist, Executed

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Georges Suarez, Paris journalist condemned to death as a collaborationist, was executed at dawn today at the Fort of Montrouge, the Paris radio announced.

Suarez, editor of the newepaper Aujourd'hui, was the first defendant to be convicted in the purge trials before specially constituted French courts.

Coast Angels Draft Outfielder, Pitcher

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast Baseball League have drafted two players:

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—The sons of Nippon should have taken to heart a lesson learned 10 years ago when they tangled with some Americans, even if it was just a ball game.

Just a decade back, Lefty Gomez struck out 19 Japs, four in one inning, because of a dropped third strike by Jimmy Foxx, as touring major leaguers shut out the Nippon All-Stars, 10-0, at Tokyo.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 9 (AP)—Lt. Col. Earl "Red" Blaik, coach of the Army football team, has popped up with a brand-new reason for calling secret practice.

"The Cadet Corps is too 'high' on the Notre Dame game," Blaik claims. "I don't want the contagion to spread among my youngsters."

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 9 (AP)—George "Whitey" Kurowski, the St. Louis Cards' third baseman, isn't the only member of that Reading, Pa., family to seek fame in the field of sports. His brother, Anthony, is a candidate for the tailback spot on the Princeton football team that opens its season against Muhlenberg Saturday.

The 21-year-old young Kurowski is a V-12 trainee, who reported at Princeton from Penn State Nov. 1.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 9 (AP)—Brooklyn may have another Sidney Luckman in the making in young Al Veling of Brooklyn Tech High School, who has scored 102 points to top El Sid's P. S. A. L. mark of a decade ago.

The big fullback scored 26 points and passed for another touchdown in a 33-0 schoolboy triumph at Ebbets Field.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Jimmy McDaniels, Los Angeles scrapper, is gambling heavily in Friday's Madison Square Garden bout with Sammy Angott for a chance at the big money.

The West Coast prospect's manager, Ralph Gambina, figures an upset win over Angott, former champion, would make McDaniels a coast-to-coast attraction.

Louis to Referee Garden Mat Match

Sgt. Joe Louis of the U. S. Army, slated to box an exhibition in Hartford, Ct., tonight, will move into the Boston Garden next Thursday night when he referees a wrestling match, to be announced by Paul Bowser.

Browns Hold Snappy Drill

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 9 (AP)—Coach Rip Engle sent the Brown squad through a brisk workout yesterday afternoon as the Bruins continued their preparation for Saturday's invasion of Yale Bowl.

The first two elevens spent most of the session working on the defenses they expect to use against the Elis.

Attempting to assemble the strongest possible backfield combination, Engle yesterday afternoon had Dick O'Leary, hard-driving reserve fullback from Worcester, working at the right halfback position in place of Roger Williams, former Wilbraham Academy boy, who has been the starter at this post thus far this season.

Salem Aide's Vote Cancels Peabody Go

Ensign Vincent April of the Salem subcommittee on athletics voted against moving the Salem-Peabody football game, scheduled for Sunday, to Manning Bowl, Lynn, forcing cancellation of this North Shore feature.

Leafs, Rangers Top Tonight's Ice Card

Unless the contest ends in a deadlock, one streak must end tonight when the cellar-dwelling New York Rangers inaugurate their home National League hockey season at Madison Square Garden with the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs as their opponents.

The Leafs are undefeated in four games, having already taken the measure of the Rangers at Toronto, who will be seeking their first victory in four attempts this season.

In the only other game Montreal plays host to the Chicago Black Hawks at Montreal. A victory for the Canadiens plus a defeat for the Leafs would not only enable last year's champions to tie Toronto for the league lead, but would put the Rangers into a fourth place tie with the Boston Bruins, each with one victory and three defeats.

The Rangers were heartened by the return to full time activity of Phil Watson, their able center. Watson, who played last year with the Canadiens, has been rejected for military service in Canada.

He will team with Hank Goldup, a discharged veteran who saw two years of Army service, and Walter Atanas, a former amateur from Niagara Falls.

The Leafs come to New York with their forward line of Sweeney Schriner, Lorne Carr and Gus Bodnar occupying three of the first four places among the scoring leaders. Schriner shares the league lead with Detroit's Sid Howe with 11 points, followed by Carr's and Bodner's 10.

Livingston Back With Cubs

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (INS)—Elation pervaded the front office of the Chicago Cubs today with word that Thompson Orville "Mickey" Livingston, the Cubs' No. 1 catcher in 1943, has received a medical discharge from the Army.

Livingston, who entered the service about eight months ago, wrote General Manager Jim Gallagher that he was looking forward to returning to his former post next season.

Northey Best Man On Phillies Roster

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Ronald James Northey, Philadelphia's slugging outfielder, has the unique distinction of serving three different owners and three different managers in his three seasons with the Phillies.

During that time the 24-year-old outer gardener his secured his pay checks from Club Presidents Gerry Nugent in 1942, Bill Cox in 1943 and Bob Carpenter in 1944, while taking orders from Managers Hans Lobert, Bucky Harris and Fred Fitzsimmons.

Like the two previous pilots, Fitzsimmons considers the stocky 200-pound 5-foot 10-inch power hitter his best athlete. "Northey has the makings of a great player," says Fat Freddie.

The record shows that Northey ranked third in the circuit with 22 home runs and 104 runs batted in. And led his teammates with a .289 batting average. For the second successive season, Northey paced his mates in total hits, runs scored, doubles, and triples as well as in home runs and runs batted in.

Northey is reputed to have one of the strongest throwing arms in baseball.
